

PORTSMOUTH HERALD

Tony Manfredi, left, of Staff Hunters recently donated $3,250 to the Market Square Steeple Fund of Portsmouth. The donation is the result of a promotion that Staff Hunters ran in the fourth quarter of 2006. The funds will be matched by the city of Portsmouth an additional 50 percent. Accepting the check is Phil Pettis, chairman of the Market Square Steeple Fund.

Katelyn McGrail joins the Staff Hunters

PORTSMOUTH — Katelyn McGrail recently joined Staff Hunters as a staffing manager.

McGrail has worked in sales on the Seacoast two years and is a graduate of George Washington University. She will focus on growing the firm's temporary practice, which helps firms find qualified financial and administrative help on a short-term basis.

Staff Hunters specializes in the temporary and permanent placement of accounting, finance and administrative professionals. The company places junior and senior candidates in temporary, temp-to-hire, and permanent positions.

Dividends

Staff Hunters recently welcomed Katelyn McGrail as agency staffing manager. McGrail has worked in sales on the Seacoast two years and is a graduate of George Washington University. She will focus on growing the firm's temporary practice which helps businesses find qualified financial and administrative help on a short-term basis. Staff Hunters specializes in the temporary and permanent placement of accounting, finance, and administrative professionals. For more information, please visit www.staffhunters.net.

UNION LEADER

Staff Hunters

PORTSMOUTH — Staff Hunters, a staffing agency and placement firm specializing in finance and administrative personnel, based in Portsmouth, has opened a new office in Bedford.

The Bedford office will be headed by staffing veteran Van L. Laventure, the company's president, Tony Manfredi, said in a news release.